

Martensen IP Adds Depth with Hiring of Seasoned Attorneys Chad G. Clark and Ryan J. Cudnik

by Martensen IP | Oct 8, 2020 | News

Martensen IP is pleased to welcome attorneys Chad G. Clark and Ryan J. Cudnik to our ranks.

Chad is a former Air Force pilot who after earning his law degree at Stanford Law School has focused on protection of intellectual property in the biological marketplace. Chad has many issued patents to his credit as well as experience in gaining trademark registrations.

Ryan is a trusted advisor both to small businesses and Fortune 500 companies. A graduate from Columbus School of Law in Washington, DC, Ryan has been involved in and has lead a long list of high-profile patent and other intellectual property litigations, as well as being adept at prosecuting trademark and copyright applications.

The decades of experience that Chad and Ryan bring to the Martensen IP team will be of tremendous value to the firm's clients.
